No AF Lock. Yes, there is an AFL button, but I've never been able to get it to work on any of my Fuji X100 series cameras. No worries, I just flick the X100F's AF Mode slide switch to M and I'm locked even better. A tap of the AFL button will make the camera focus once and lock when in Manual focus mode. No second card slot. No GPS. No flip screen.

To set up the Fuji x100s for hyperfocal shooting we can take advantage of the electronic distance indicator (in the viewfinder or LCD screen) showing a focus distance line and DOF white bar). The key is to use these as we would on older lenses with their DOF markings. At any aperture, manually focus while looking at the DOF white bar.

The Fuji X100 series of cameras have been a favorite of street photographers since day one. And the latest Fuji X100F is a stellar little shooter but whenever the camera powered down the manual focus distance reset to 2 meters which made manual focus shooters (like me) a little crazy.

“Focus Check” doesn’t work in continuous servo autofocus mode, and neither does manual focus. S: Single servo autofocus, where the X100F focuses once and locks down after it has acquired focus. This is the most accurate way to focus with the X100F, but it only works when you have a nonmoving subject.

Actually I really liked the way the X-T1 handled this. Pressing the AF-L button did focus and then lock the focus. The X-T2 changed that it does not focus any longer, just locks, unless one is in M-mode. I got a few out-of-focus shots until I realized that the X-T2 did no longer focus when locking AF-L.

Manual Focus . Manual focus works swell, so long as you don't try to use the manual focus ring. The manual focus ring doesn't work: it responds slowly and with a long delay, so forget about it. To focus manually, press the AFL-AEL button to grab a spot focus. More at my X100 User's guide. Macro performance top. Closest Macro distance.

TRICK: In Manual Focus, unlike autofocus, the Fuji X100 focuses seamlessly throughout its entire range! Therefore, instead of screwing with the macro mode menus, simply slide the focus mode switch to MF, and hold the AFL AEL button to focus. Press the rear control lever to enlarge the central focus area.
