A more detailed and exhaustive discussion of the law of reflection and associated terms can be found at The Physics Classroom Tutorial. Characteristics of Plane Mirror Images Objects placed in front of plane mirrors will have a corresponding image located behind the mirror.

Physics Tutorial: Reflection and the Ray Model of Light

The Physics Classroom thank their friends at Nerd Island Studios for contributing this Interactive to our collection. Name That Image (Mirror Version) The Name That Image Interactive is a skill-building tool that allows the learner to explore the characteristics of images formed by concave and convex mirrors.

Reflection and Mirrors Review - Answers #4

When viewing the secondary image, light must first reflect off one of the mirrors and then the second mirror before traveling towards the viewer's eye. Elaborate step-by-step directions for locating these images are found elsewhere; see the Physics Classroom tutorial page.

Minds on Physics - Objectives

Physics Classroom says: Our exploration of mirrors begins with a simple principle of light reflection. Mirrors, and other reflective surfaces, reflect light in a very predictable manner. The angle at which light approaches the surface is the same as the angle at which light bounces off the surface.

The Physics Classroom » The Review Session » Reflection and Mirrors » Printable Version. Reflection and Mirrors Review Part A: Multiple Choice. 1. As the angle of incidence is increased for a ray incident on a reflecting surface, the angle between the incident and reflected rays ultimately approaches what value?

Reflection And Mirrors Physics Classroom

The ray nature of light is used to explain how light reflects off of planar and curved surfaces to produce both real and virtual images; the nature of the images produced by plane mirrors, concave mirrors, and convex mirrors is thoroughly illustrated.
