"It is complicated because so many people do not understand the protocol of greeting a strange cat and take offense (or fright) if you suggest they take it easy. A cat is a formal creature who always wants to make the first gesture and only in his own good time." Don't Miss: How to Build Trust in Cats Who Are Shy Around People

Kitty Angels - Adopting Kittens
When your kitten starts to bite or scratch you, end the play session by leaving the room. This is a kitty time-out. Your kitten will learn that when she is too rough, play time ends. This will teach her not to be so aggressive. Do not try to pick up your kitten and put her in another room for her time-out as this might elicit more bites.
